Though tons of news about the war in Ukraine are reported every day, how the animals are suffered is rarely known. Thousands of pets left behind. They were not allowed to get on the trains, so the family (owners) had to leave them in the station. Or the family was killed by the war.

Since February 2022 around 30 abandoned pupples were under my fostering

And so many serious peace issues in the world are neglected, including Myanmar. Over 100,000 (one third of Population) have become IDPs (Internal Displaced People) from Kayah state who are struggled by the very hard life conditions mentally, physically and economically...

This online event was fruitfully organized on the Jul. 18th by NICE (Japan), GIVE (Myanmar) and Union Forum (Ukraine) with the support of NVDA and other IVS networks such as ALLIANCE and CCIVS. 27 participants from 10 countries actively joined including the leaders of NVDA members such as Alex (DALAA Thailand), Prakash (FFN Nepal) and Printer (GV4GF Sri Lanka).

Inga, Executive Director of Union Forum, shared her great initiatives to save the animals including to host 30 dogs in her house. The most of animals have been adopted through the partner NGOs in Europe, but there are still many who don't have places to go and Inga is faced on serious lack of the fund to transport the donated food and other live stocks, etc. from Poland.

"Why you save the animals, not human being? How can you answer if someone criticize you like this?" asked by Ben, who is also running a NGO in Indonesia saving cats and other animals. "We also support refugees. And animals are also important part of our families. They totally depend on human, so caring them is our responsibility. Nobody else help them who really need us", Inga said.

Thazin, Executive Director of GIVE and also General Secretary of NVDA, shared the plan to empower IDPs by buying the land and let them practice organic farming and create the farmers fair market that could improve their life quality, income generation and skills development. To have a pilot project of 4,000 m2 land with 5 farmers, 5,000 USD of donations are needed.

"What if IDPs could come back their home? Who will maintain the land?" asked by Akiko, Uni. Professor in Japan. "Unfortunately, they may not to be able to go back in 1-2 years on which they need more stable and healthy life. Thus, their home land was destroyed and IDP camp is not far, so even if they could go back, they'd keep coming to our project farm" answered by Thazin.

I as the facilitator closed the event with introducing the call for the donation (←Click here for donation page!) at from where 10 persons have donated 74,200 JPY (550 USD) till now.

You are very welcomed to support any of Ukraine/ Myanmar projects from 300 JPY (2.2 USD) and share this to your friends by SNS, etc.!

Written by Pham Thi Thu (Coordinator of Asian Volunteers Voice)

It was held on Aug. 5th with 43 registrations to join the event and in total we had 17 attendees and 5 organizers and guest speakers.

The meeting was colorful and dynamic with the sharing and inspiring of the formal volunteers and informative introduction of the hosting projects. We got attention and interest of future volunteers who would like to join projects in both Thailand and Australia, thus, there were a lots of questions raised by the attendees to have a better understanding on IVS as well as the projects.

We had amazing support from SVI Belgium to sponsor the ZOOM account to host the meeting and will keep continuing for the next AVV.

What's going on in our network?

Volunteers Initiative Nepal (VIN) Teachers Empowering Teachers

Volunteers Initiative Nepal (VIN), and the non-profit organisation Inspiring Teachers, are working together in Kathmandu to fulfil the promise of teaching this summer. At present, 72 teachers in the Kathmandu valley, from 9 schools, are collaborating with pairs of qualified Fellows from classrooms in the UK and US to help improve learning in low-resource contexts.

For three intensive weeks, teachers in Nepal are guided through cycles of workshops, observations and coaching, with knowledge on the science of learning, lesson design and peer coaching being shared via interactive Saturday workshops.

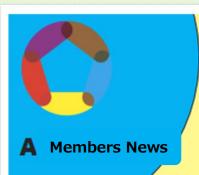

NICE Never-ending International workCamps Exchange- Japan

One year ago in August 2021, NICE slowly restarted outgoing placement for a total of 10 volunteers in that year. Until now In 2022, 216 volunteers have been either sent or placed to 24 countries. It is still far less than before-COVID era, but gradually recovered. Thus, the group workcamp from UK will be hosted in Japan this August for the first time of incoming placement since April 2020. We are planning to open the places of our workcamps and LMTVs to all the partners in the world within several weeks!

DaLaa is back to organise many activities. Only our staff team is still reduced to 2 people but we hope to increase soon. We organised the NVDA G.A which was a first experience for us and a successful event. We started to build a beautiful clay house at our Voluntary Service Center to be used as a sleeping room for the volunteers.

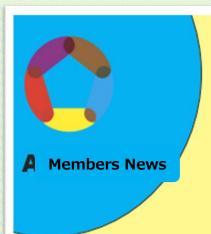

Over 60 people have been involved already. In July, we had a bilateral camp with a French scout group to repair a clay house in "the garden of tranquillity".

In August, we organised a preparation for 7 Thai volunteers who will be going for 13 months in Germany with both our partners SCI and IJGD in the frame of Weltwaert program. And currently in August, our teaching English workcamp welcomes 10 international volunteers from Europe and Asia. It's the first time since the pandemic we can have so many international volunteers.

Vision Youth Action VYA Taiwan

We didn't host volunteer since 2020 due to the Covid-19 and quarantine policy in Taiwan. The community project is open for local youth only. But in turn of sending/exchange volunteers abroad, we worked together with the government for volunteer leadership training from 2021-2022.

DreamWalker China DWC

In China, we cannot run any activities because of the zero covid policy so travelling restrictions are a problem. Even with local partners, we had to cancel three previous Workcamper due to covid despite all the preparations. So do expect us to be very quiet at this time. Anyway, all the best for NVDA.

GREAT Indonesia Gerakan Kerelawanan Internasional

We are working with the Erasmus+ program. We have to organise activities that were postponed during the pandemic and some local activities by our members in a few cities. There can be possible virtual workcamps but it is still in the planning process.
